Address loneliness to reduce health and social care costs in older age

The Campaign to End Loneliness is calling for local health-focused strategies to reduce isolation and loneliness amongst older people. This call comes as the Joseph Rowntree Foundation launches its Neighbourhood Approaches to Loneliness programme today.

Laura Ferguson, Director of the Campaign to End Loneliness welcome the programme's search for location-based evidence: "Older people are more likely to live alone in their community. As research links loneliness to poor physical and mental health, they are unfortunately more likely to need more intensive health support. Loneliness should therefore be better understood and prioritised by health providers in every locality. By working to reduce loneliness, local health commissioners are likely to reduce the vulnerability of older people and the associated health costs this incurs."

NOTES TO EDITORS

About the Campaign

The Campaign to End Loneliness aims to maintain and create connections in older age and was started in 2010 by four founder partners: Age UK Oxfordshire, Counsel and Care,

Independent Age and WRVS. It is funded by the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation. More information can be found at: www.campaigntoendloneliness.org.uk

Loneliness is bad for your health. Researchers rate loneliness and social isolation as a comparable risk to lifelong smoking (Holt-Lunstad J, Smith TB, Layton JB (2010) 'Social Relationships and Mortality Risk: A Meta-analytic Review', PLoS Med 7(7): e1000316).

The risk factors and health implications of loneliness are set out in the launch publication of the Campaign to End Loneliness' 2011 report Safeguarding the Convoy – A call to action from the Campaign to End Loneliness. The four founder members recognise the importance of working together and with others to end loneliness: a complex, very personal and often hidden issue which has knock on effects across health and wider society. These organisations are:

Independent Age is unique in providing lifelong support to older people on very low incomes. We provide information and advice, practical help and emergency financial aid through our network of staff and dedicated volunteers across the UK and Republic of Ireland. Just as importantly, we offer friendship and the chance to socialise to those who are lonely and isolated. Supported by Independent Age, thousands of older people are able to maintain their independence, contribute to their communities and enjoy a good quality of life, secure in the knowledge that our help lasts as long as they need it. To find out about volunteering with Independent Age visit www.independentage.org.uk/volunteer

Counsel and Care is a national charity working with older people, their families and carers to get the best care and support. VitalLinks is Counsel and Care's new national network of befriending schemes for older people that aims to help older people, their families and carers to locate a nearby scheme and assists befriending schemes to connect with each other. The goal is to reduce loneliness and isolation by raising the profile of befriending for older people and filling the gaps in provision across England and Wales. For more information visit www.counselandcare.org.uk/vital-links or contact the VitalLinks coordinator, Kathleen Gillett, on 0207 241 8535 or email VitalLinks@counselandcare.org.uk

Counsel and Care merged with the older people's charity Independent Age in July 2011. Independent Age has become managing trustee of Counsel and Care.

WRVS provides practical help through the power of volunteering, so older people can stay independent and live the way they want. WRVS is one of the largest volunteering charities in Britain powered by 45,000 volunteers who regularly provide practical help to over 100,000 older people in their homes, communities, hospitals and during emergencies. To find out about volunteering with WRVS visit www.wrvs.org.uk

Age UK Oxfordshire is an independent local charity with over 40 years of experience in promoting the well-being of older people throughout the county of Oxfordshire, and helping to make later life a fulfilling and enjoyable experience. The Campaign is supported by the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation, which is an international charitable foundation with cultural, educational, scientific and social interests. Based in Lisbon with offices in London and Paris, the Foundation is in a privileged position to support national and transnational work tackling contemporary issues. The purpose of the UK Branch in London is to connect and enrich the experiences of individuals, families and communities, with a special interest in supporting those who are most disadvantaged. It currently focuses its work on developing and supporting innovative projects and partnerships across the themes of cultural understanding, fulfilling potential, environment and maximising social and cultural value.
